Join AAZK San Diego in welcoming Dr. Gregory Rasmussen, founder and director of Painted Dog Research Trust, for an exclusive talk on current developments in African Painted Dog conservation. There will be a social reception at 5:00 with food & beverages available for purchase before/after the talk, which will begin at 5:30, and time for Q&A afterward.

The mission of the Painted Dog Research Trust is to both continue with research into the highly endangered painted Dog and build for the future of conservation by meaningfully incorporating Zimbabwean graduate students to build local capacity and tomorrow's conservationists.

With research as the guiding tool, Painted Dog Research Trust is dedicated to the conservation of the highly endangered Painted Dog, also known as the African Wild Dog. This work has been ongoing for 25 years by the founder, Dr. Greg Rasmussen, thus making it one of the longest studies into the species.
